Garrett conducts policy analysis and legal research at the SDCTA. Originally from Dallas, Garrett first moved to San Diego in 2003. He graduated from San Diego State University in May 2007, where he obtained a double major in Political Science and Linguistics, as well as a minor in German. While attending SDSU, he studied abroad at both Oxford University in England and the Free University of Berlin in Germany. He graduated from Louisiana State University in August 2009 with an MA in Political Science. His primary area of study was International Relations with an emphasis in interstate conflict, and his secondary area of study was Comparative Politics with an emphasis in the politics of Central and Eastern Europe. Prior to joining SDCTA, he worked as a research supervisor at LSU's Public Policy Research Lab in Baton Rouge. Garrett hopes to begin at Thomas Jefferson School of Law in January 2010.
